

Allison Ottjepka
Cyr Wheel Performing Artist
Founder and CEO of
SPINNOVATION DETROIT
And @Alli_Spins

Allison Ottjepka is a high level Cyr Wheel artist. She found Cyr Wheel in 2016 and has continued to carry out a full time performance art career. She began coaching Cyr through “Spinnovention Detroit” in 2019. Allison has a Unique style with the wheel drawing inspiration from skatepark culture, breakdancing, hip hop, and other flow based movement arts.

Allison’s style is based on being fluid with the wheel and finding skills within natural pathways of movement. In addition to her flow style of Cyr, Allison is certified in PAT (progressive axis training), a Cyr Wheel curriculum created by Sam Tribble. PAT focuses on the fundamentals of ground movements and physics needed to elevate and efficiently hone one’s Cyr Wheel skills. Allison’s teaching strategy is to give students the tools to create beyond their skill levels and find their unique flow with the wheel. Through PAT Allison is advanced in Cyr Wheel training and spotting techniques to help her students obtain skill goals and advance to the next level in their Cyr journey.
